

... "He is not here; He has risen!
Luke 24:6

"He's Alive!"

Easter

Luke 24:1-9

Friday morning Jesus was taken to a hill called "Calvary." There He was nailed onto a cross, and the cross was stuck into the ground.

At noon, darkness fell all over the land and lasted three hours. At the end of that time, Jesus said, "It is finished," and died.

The earth shook, rocks shattered, and the curtain in the temple was ripped in half by unseen hands.

The Roman soldiers were afraid, and one said, "Surely, this man was the Son of God."

Jesus' body was taken to a tomb, and a rock was rolled across the entrance to block it. Roman soldiers guarded the tomb.

There was no time to anoint the body before the Sabbath began. Early Sunday morning three women went to the tomb to anoint the body. They found the rock rolled away and the tomb empty.

An angel stood guard. "Do not be afraid. Jesus is not here. He has risen from the dead," he told them.

The women rushed to tell the disciples and met Jesus on the way.

He told them to have the disciples meet Him
